Memorial Day Rains Bring 3 Foot Rise to Coletto Creek Reservoir

Coletto Creek — A 3-foot rise to Coletto Creek Reservoir caused by Memorial Day rains may be cause for increased activity at the park and reservoir. Coletto Creek Park received about 2 inches of rain during that time.

"This increase in reservoir level is a welcome sight as the reservoir approaches its busiest time of the year with many families bringing their watercraft out to enjoy the reservoir," Wilfred Korth, GBRA chief ranger said.

Prior to May 30, the reservoir was approximately 4 feet below normal. The reservoir is full at 98 feet mean sea level (msl) and it has been at or below that level since 2010.

However, with the recent rainfall, the reservoir is within 0.75 inches of full capacity. This substantial increase will allow boaters to use the reservoir's boat ramps easier and fishing conditions should improve significantly .

GBRA provides stewardship for the water resources in its 10-county statutory district, which begins near the headwaters of the Guadalupe and Blanco rivers, ends at San Antonio Bay, and includes Kendall, Comal, Hays, Caldwell, Guadalupe, Gonzales, DeWitt, Victoria, Calhoun, and Refugio counties.
